GIRLS RESCUED FROM THE ENSLAVEMENT OF SEX TRAFFICKING OVER THE PAST TEN YEARS

THANK YOU for being a huge part in rescuing more than 700 girls from the enslavement of sex trafficking over the past ten years. These girls were trapped in a life of sexual slavery. It is heartbreaking to think of the girls being forced to do unimaginable things, every day. They needed someone who would help give them a chance for a brand new life, a way out of the darkness.

with hope and opportunity, since you saved them. Many of the girls have no family. They come from impoverished conditions we cannot begin to grasp. Conditions where desperation for survival led them to come to a major city, only to be met by pimps looking for their next prey. From there, the story is repeated over and over all around the world. Once the girls are trapped, there is very little chance for them to get away

For 10 years, we have been working with these precious girls, ranging in age from 4 years old to 30 years old. You have provided services to girls in Cambodia, Haiti, East Africa and the USA. Though the numbers served continue to climb each year—now more than 700 girls have been helped—our relationship with each and every girl is greatly treasured. They are like daughters, with their past engrained on our hearts, and their futures blessed without help. Someone helping them was an impossibility for them to even think about. They just survived from one day to the next, praying the next “customer” wouldn’t beat them, make them pregnant or give them HIV. One girl described her life as, “Every day I felt like someone’s toilet, where men relieved themselves on.” These girls needed a hero, and that is what you have become. Your prayers and generosity made you a rescuer, a savior of the helpless. To each of these girls, you made the impossible, possible! And you became their family.

Our Safe Campaign is our global response to sex trafficking. There are several programs under this campaign. Refuge Homes are where girls come to live for 6 months to 2 years and basically receive everything they will need to start their lives over. Once girls graduate the program, they enter training school come from the red light district and are able to learn a vocation which will permit them to find a job or start their own small business when they graduate after one year.

As I look back over the past 10 years of rescuing girls, I think of the moment we met Yodit, the first girl rescued. That night we got her out of the red light and then said, "Ok God. Now what do we do?!" From that moment on, He has led us

Phase 2 where they move out on their own, nearby the Refuge Homes, and with guidance we help them learn to live successfully on their own.

Mercy Chapel is a former brothel we purchased (in the middle of the red light district in East Africa) and converted to a vocational training center and counseling center. We also work closely with a local church which provides services regularly at Mercy Chapel. The girls who attend the vocational to one girl after another, providing direction and wisdom on how to best serve each individual girl. Yodit was the first of many to graduate, start her career, get married and live a safe, happy life. We never would have thought her rescue would lead to saving hundreds of girls in multiple countries, including more than 120 American girls.
